A screenshot of the Supabase dashboard. The main header shows the project name 'goat-royalty-app' and tier 'NANO'. A large orange circle with a double slash symbol indicates the project is paused. Below this, a message states: 'The project "goat-royalty-app" is currently paused. All of your project's data is still intact, but your project is inaccessible while paused. Restore this project and get back to building!'. A callout box highlights that 'Project cannot be restored through the dashboard' because it has been paused for over 90 days. It also notes that data remains intact and can be downloaded as a backup. Three buttons are provided: 'Download backups', 'Restore backup to a new Supabase project guide', and 'Restore backup on your local machine guide'. The left sidebar contains a vertical list of icons for managing projects, databases, and users.
